

Parking at Tomales Bay State Park

Three cars (typically those belonging to Guides) should be parking in front of the storage containers once all the gear has been unloaded to ensure that it will be possible to put the equipment away at the end of the trip.

Day Trips:

- Guides may park in the main lot, ideally not in the spots directly adjacent to the beach
- Participants may park in the main lot

Overnight Trips:

- All participants, aside from those with disabilities, should park in the overflow parking lot. Participants with disabilities may park in the main lot near the containers.
- All Guides, aside from the three cars parked in front to the containers, should park in the overflow parking lot.
- To reach the overflow parking lot, drive out of the main lot and take a left. Drive about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile, keeping right, and park anywhere in the overflow lot.
- Once parked in the lot, there is a short trail that leads to the beach. The trail starts next to the bathroom.

All Participants and Guides must have parking passes displayed on their dash so as to not get a ticket for not purchasing a park pass.
